

The present invention relates to a process for the transesterification of keto esters with alcohols using polyaniline salts as catalyst.